

SOCIAL WORK A profession which is concerned with man's adjustment in his environment; a person in relation to a person's social situation. Social work seeks to enhance the social functioning of individuals, singly, and in groups, by activities focused upon their social relationship which constitute the interaction between man and his environment. These activities can be grouped into three functions: 1 restoration of impaired capacity 2 provision of individual and social resources 3 prevention of social dysfunction Downloaded by Eutech1126 (eutech253@gmail.com) lOMoARcPSD|33444725 Summarized and Encoded by: M. Duran BUCSSP- FOR BOARD EXAM ONLY. (US Council on SW Education) Social Work in its various forms addresses the multiple complex transactions between people and their environment. (IASSW and IFSW)